

How to rank a

Fiverr gig

Ranking a Fiverr gig seems to be the most tedious for most Fiverr sellers. No one wants to put the effort into ranking the gig but they all want to be on the number one spot. However there's some smart ways as to how you can get to the top without breaking the bank.

Before we begin, I'd like to tell you that Fiverr, like Google has a complex search engine algorithm. Fiverr ranks gigs based on their importance to the buyers. Most people don't know how to rank gigs but I've cracked the code. In this short actionable PDF, I'm going to show you how you can rank high on Fiverr's search engine for any gig.

Ready?

OK so we all know that Fiverr has their own algorithm that helps them come to a conclusion as to which gigs are the best to rank. Most people don't know how the ranking process works but I've found the code which helps boost your rankings within 7 days.

Here is the Fiverr Ranking Method

Fiverr is really easy to manipulate when trying to rank for gigs. Unlike search engines, you don't need to throw high PR backlinks at it, create web 2.0s and do any sort of gruelling work. The best way to rank on Fiverr for majority of the Fiverr gig niches is to do the following:

- Create a video for your gig (or outsource it to another Fiverr user) – Fiverr loves gigs with videos and tend to find them more professional and serious.
- Share your gig on social media (Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, Google plus) – Do anything to get your gig displayed in front of hungry buyers.
- Buy $5 website traffic (Throw a few thousand views at your Fiverr gig page) – Fiverr likes gigs that get a lot of traffic as it makes it seem more relevant to buyers which is why it has a lot of views.
- Get up the ranks fast (Go to Lvl 1, Lvl 2) – Fiverr places more authority on accounts with high levels. Having high levels will automatically sky rocket your gig to the top of the page mainly because of authority.
- Add in the right keywords inside the tags, description and title box. Forget trying to target one keyword, go for at least 3. For example, if you have a gig for “Get 1,000 YouTube views”, inside your description, add in keywords such as “high quality YouTube views” “Best YouTube views provider” etc. This will increase likelihood of ranking for multiple keywords.

Do all of this and your gig is definitely going to be ranking high on the search engines for Fiverr meaning you'll get more sales and more leads coming your way.